10:30-11:30 AM

It's time to talk about what metrics we are demanding developers to follow as they build in our neighborhood

LET'S HEAR FROM YOU!

What is Equitable Development?

Let's determine what these indicators are for North Richmond and ultimately create a scorecard that guides our desired development standards

WHAT DOES EQUITABLE DEVELOPMENT MEAN TO YOU?

Formal Definition

Equitable development is an approach to meet the needs of underserved communities and individuals through projects, programs, and/or policies that reduce disparities while fostering places that are healthy, vibrant, and diverse.

Show the video (Princess)

Advancing Equitable Development in North Richmond through a formalized scorecard

We are building a score card for economic development that benefits everyone, because projects always come down the pipeline with no real community say or a plan

COMMUNITY MEMBERS such as Urban neighborhoods, Suburban communities, Rural communities, and Cultural groups could use this Scorecard when:

Community visioning/planning with a focus on equity (e.g. small area
plan, development plan,
or master plan)

Scoring a proposed development project

Scoring a development project currently in progress

Making policy change
recommendations

THIS PROCESS SHOULD HELP YOU DECIDE IF A PROJECT OR INITIATIVE MEETS YOUR COMMUNITY'S STANDARDS FOR EQUITY.

GOVERNMENTS AND PLANNERS could use this Scorecard when:

Planning with a focus on equity

Scoring a proposed development project

Scoring a development project currently in progress

Engaging residents, businesses and developers in measurable economic growth

Evaluating the impacts of policy on the needs of the community

Making policy change recommendations

Developers and corporations building in North Richmond should result in concrete and measurable community benefits for local residents as defined by their community.

EQUITABLE COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

practices involve the local community members most affected in the development project (especially low-wealth people, people of color, neighborhood groups, community organizations, people living with disabilities, and new immigrants).

EQUITABLE TRANSPORTATION practices integrate transit into walkable, livable, and affordable land use practices to enhance healthy living within low-income communities and communities of color.

EQUITABLE HOUSING practices give families of all income levels access to housing that costs no more than 30% of their household income.

EQUITABLE LAND USE practices require that the overall vision, plan, and implementation includes local communities' assets, aspirations, potential, and preferences. They aim to keep current residents in the area and develop projects that promote people's health, well-being, and prosperity.

EQUITABLE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT practices require evidence that policies and programs work to prioritize community based financial intelligence, sustainable wealth creation, and high quality job opportunities that prevent unwanted displacement of residents and small businesses from low-income communities and communities of color.
